ABOUT ME

I started my frontend journey in April 2020 through a two week long bootcamp at studihub 2.0.Since then it has been mostly a self-taught journey and the amount of knowledge I have gained shows how determined and passionate I am about web developing. I already work on projects designed by UI/UX designers and I believe it shows my ability to implement designs from scratch through code .
As of now, I have progressed from self-taught web development skills into an accomplished web developer with industry recognised qualifications and what started as an 'Hello World' has already started to yield results.
